

Every screen, every state, one page.

Five ways in, a discovery layer that funnels into a single experience screen, an auth wall that remembers what you were doing, a booking pipeline with one success and four failures, and the fulfilment path that ends at a gate in a field with no signal. Gold squares mark screens carrying one of the four placements; the booking zone is drawn in a broken red outline because it carries none, though today that holds by placement rather than by a coded guard.

